Owing to the fact that Tennessee has no vital statistics law, we are unable to furnish you with further accurate data relative to prevalent diseases in this State.

Very respectfully, J. BERRIEN LINDSLEY, M. D.,
Secretary and Executive Officer.

From December 15, up to and including December 31, there occurred in Memphis 17 cases of smallpox, 16 colored and 1 white.

In Shelby County, during the same period, there occurred 13 cases of smallpox, 9 colored and 4 white; and at Alamo, Crockett County, there occurred 6 cases of smallpox, all colored.

Smallpox in Memphis, Tenn.

MEMPHIS, TENN., December 31, 1895.

SIR: I have the honor to report with reference to the smallpox in this city that 22 cases and 2 other suspected cases have arisen in the city and suburbs since December 14, the date of my last letter on the subject. In these cases 2 of the patients were white and the others colored. The disease is kept well in hand, and the number of new cases appears to be diminishing at present.

Very respectfully, yours, A. C. SMITH,
Passed Assistant Surgeon, M. H. S.

Immigration during 1895.

ELLIS ISLAND, NEW YORK HARBOR, January 6, 1896.

SIR: Inclosed please find a statement showing the number of passengers, both cabin and steerage, landed at the port of New York during the calendar year 1895. It should be borne in mind that fully 20 per cent of the steerage passengers are residents of the United States returning to this country, and the actual number of immigrants would, therefore, be about 200,000.

Very respectfully, W. A. WHEELER,
Surgeon, M. H. S.
